

Thermal biology of wild and lab zebrafish

Bio

Professor Fredrik Jutfelt is a fish ecophysiologicalist at the Norwegian University of Science and Technology in Trondheim, Norway. Much of the research in the Jutfelt lab is related to climate change and how temperature affect the physiology and behaviour of fish. His lab uses both wild and domesticated laboratory zebrafish. They have also worked on zebrafish in the wild in India.

